Give your child some place options for the picnic and choose together the best one. Show her how to place the blanket, the decorations and food and let her gradually take on more responsibility

Ask your child where she wants to picnic and let her look for the best place. Give her the blanket, the decorations and food and let her think how to place everything and gradually take on more responsibility.

Tell your child to choose where to picnic. Ask her to pick the decorations that she likes and the food you both prepared and let her take initiative and take on responsibility.

Well done, enjoy your meal!

- After eating, take the book with your child.
- Go through it and ask her what was her favorite part.
- Don't forget to ask her "why" and maybe think together about other possibilities of experiences replicating what you have learned already.
